URGENT DAMAGE TO THE PROPERTY

The board must be notified immediately.

In case of damage – see the claim form on our website to fill in, so that the damage is only reported to our insurance company via Willis. The website also contains a guide. It is the individual owner's task to follow the case through and inform the board.

It is important that you provide an in-depth explanation of; cause, time, description of the damage and extent as well as photo documentation.

Once the notification form is completed, it must be sent to Willis after the board's approval.

Remember to attach photos and other relevant attachments – e.g. damage report, quotes, police journal, etc.

You must be aware that you have a duty to stop the damage and that you must contact the damage service company outside normal working hours or a craftsman from the resource list. In addition, you are also welcome to initiate the damage limitation with craftsmen such as dehumidification and the like. You are not allowed to initiate repairs of consequential damage – here you must obtain a quote or ask the insurance company to put their craftsmen on the case via the form.

Not urgent damage – go here.

DAMAGE TO THE PROPERTY (NOT URGENT)

If damage occurs to the property, the owner responsible for the damage must immediately report it to the board (this also applies if it is guests of a resident who are responsible for the damage). The board can decide whether it is an insurance case or a damage that you must pay/fix yourself via your own insurance. If applicable, the board refers to the contact information for the property's insurance and claims company on the website.

The owners' association has entered into an agreement with the insurance brokerage firm Willis (WTW) which helps assess the damage.

It is the owner who reports the case who is responsible for running the insurance case through documentation and contact with craftsmen. If stairs, hallways, masonry and the like become dirty in addition to normal use, the occupant responsible for this must immediately make it clean.

LETTING OUT FLATS

When moving in, a copy of the lease must be sent to the administration company Aunbøl, so that it is always possible to get in touch with the resident in the apartment. Flats cannot be rented out on a short-term basis nor rented out for business. The tenant/owner may not establish a business in the flat either.

It is recommended that the landlord include a prohibition against keeping a dog in the lease. When changing tenants, write to the administrator bb@auboel.dk and the administrator will order a consumption reading from Ista.

A moving fee of 2 x DKK 300 is charged for moving in and out, respectively. The relocation fee partly finances the repair and painting of stairwells. Likewise, DKK 500 is charged to the administrator of change of tenant.

HOUSE RULES – OWNERS' ASSOCIATION

FYNSGADE 1-21

Balconies

In general

Balconies are considered part of the common elements of the property, unless otherwise is explicitly stated in the articles of association. This means that the owners' association has the general maintenance obligation for the balconies' load-bearing structures, railings and drainage.

The owner's obligations

The individual owner has a duty to keep the balcony clean and free of snow, leaves and the like, as well as ensure that drains and drainage are kept in working order. The owner must exercise general care so that the balcony is not damaged as a result of neglect, water accumulation or lack of cleaning.

Changes and coatings

The flooring and surfaces of the balconies are covered by the owners' association's right of disposal, and no changes, replacements or coverings of the surface may be made without prior written approval by the board. This includes, but is not limited to, the installation of hardwood floors, tiles, artificial grass, carpets, plastic coverings, or any other type of covering that may affect drainage, construction, or maintenance. No satellite dishes, antennas, etc. may be set up.

The Impact of Changes

Changes made without approval are considered a violation of the articles of the association, and the board can order the owner to re-establish the balcony at his own expense within a specified deadline. Failure to comply may result in the owners' association re-establishment at the owner's expense.

Appearance and overall impression

No changes may be made that affect the property's façade, appearance or the overall architectural impression. The board may require the removal of changes that is considered to be contrary to the property's common expression.

Basis of interpretation

This memorandum is indicative for the interpretation of § 26 and is included as the board's administration practices regarding balconies' maintenance and alterations.

This is especially true for the corridors by the basement rooms. All effects and waste that are placed in the basement areas will be removed without responsibility.

REPLACING WINDOWS

The individual owner has a duty to maintain the windows in the apartment, this applies to lubrication of the moving parts, replacement of seals, replacement of punctured glass, replacement of additional wear parts and other maintenance.

Replacement of window sections involve both door and windows facing the balcony, as well as remaining windows facing the outer façade.

When changing, the association's chosen materials and types must be used and thus it is not possible to choose freely. Approximately three projects can be approved annually for changing sets facing the balcony per year. Remaining small windows can in most cases be approved.

If the owner wants a subsidy for the replacement of the window section or windows, he or she must send an application to the board via the board's email, which will then be processed at the following board meeting. The owner is then informed of when the change can be made. Grants are assessed based on one of the following two scenarios:

- 1. If the window section is mismatched/broken down and you want to replace, you can apply for a subsidy. Here, subsidies are given for materials, but at a maximum of DKK 15,000. For single windows, a subsidy of DKK 3000 is given for materials. Wages for assembly must be paid by the owner.
- 2. If the window section is maintained but has an uncontrolled breakdown, the entire amount is paid by the owners' association. This is decided by the owners' association's carpenter.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF OWNERS

General

The individual owner has a duty to carry out continuous, internal maintenance of his or her apartment. The maintenance obligation includes cleaning, inspection and replacement of minor parts and components that are necessary for the normal functioning of the apartment and to avoid damage to the property. The owner must exercise ordinary care when using installations, and lack of maintenance may result in liability for damage to the property's common facilities or other apartments. As an owner, you have the maintenance obligation on all pipes from the branches and out – all horizontal pipes. Therefore, it is important that when renovating a new bathroom, for example, that you remember to have these pipes replaced.

Filters, extraction and ventilation

The owner must regularly clean and, as necessary, replace grease filters and carbon filters in the extractor hood, filters in any ventilation or extraction systems where access is given from the apartment, and ensure that air intakes and exhaust valves are kept free of dust and dirt. Lack of maintenance that results in reduced function, clogging or moisture damage is the owner's responsibility and must be repaired at their own expense.

Water traps and drains

The owner is responsible for cleaning and maintaining water traps in the kitchen, bathroom and utility room as well as floor drains and grates, including removal of hair, grease and dirt. If a blockage occurs as a result of lack of maintenance, the costs of repairs are borne by the owner.

Taps, shower heads and toilets

The owner must descale shower heads and aerators (sieves in taps), make sure that taps and toilets work properly and do not run water, and report leaks, drips or water spills that may affect common property to the board or janitor immediately. Repairing damage caused by negligence of the above is the responsibility of the owner.

Dish washers, washers and similar equipment

For the property's installations and machines located in the owner's apartment (e.g. extractor hood, ventilation unit, washing machine, dishwasher, etc.), the owner must ensure cleaning of filters, hoses and drains, use in accordance with the instructions for use and prevention of leakage, moisture and clogging. Cooker hoods with motors may not be installed without prior written permission from the board, as such installations may affect the property's common ventilation system and require technical approval. Damage caused by lack of maintenance or unauthorized installations are required to be rectified by the owners' association at the owner's expense.

Consequence of lack of maintenance

If the owner fails to fulfil his or her maintenance obligations and this results in malfunctions, clogging, moisture or water damage, the board may order the owner to carry out repairs within a set deadline or have the work carried out at the owner's expense. The board may also claim compensation for damage to the property's common components or other owners' apartments if the damage is caused by lack of maintenance.

Basis of interpretation

This memorandum is indicative of the interpretation of section 27 and constitutes The owners' association's administrative practice regarding the individual owner's internal maintenance.
